

Maggie Alexander

FITT Founder, 2013 NSW ICT Women of the Year

Maggie runs her own business, consulting and training in business process improvement. She works for large and small organisations including health & financial services, educational and technology-based organisations.

Prior to starting her own business, she worked for a multinational computer company for 11 years in senior positions including Regional Operations Manager, Re-engineering Manager, IT Manager, and Marketing Manager, and for Deloitte's SAP Practice as Director of Operations. She previously worked for NSW TAFE, and the NSW Government in industry development.

She is a founding member of Females in Information Technology and Telecommunications and has been a member of several private sector boards. In 2013 her contribution to the ICT industry over 33 years was recognised when she was named NSW ICT Woman of the Year.
